1
2
3
4
5
6
7	UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AT SEATTLE
8
9
10	SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION,	CASE NO. C17-0405JLR
11		ORDER
12	Plaintiff, v.
13	ANDY SHIN FONG CHEN, et al.,
14	Defendants.
15	Before the court is Plaintiff the Securities	and Exchange Commission's (the 16
17	"SEC") response to the court's May 4, 2022 order to show cause. (Resp. (Dkt. # 158);
18	5/4/22 Order (Dkt. # 156). ¹) The court ordered the SEC to show cause "why its third
19	motion for partial final judgment should not be filed within 45 days of the date of [the 20
21	The court's order to show cause appears on pages six through seven of its order denying Defendants Andy Ching Fong Chen and Aero Space Port International Group, Inc.'s
22	(collectively, "Defendants") motion to compel the Receiver to release funds to the investor. (See 5/4/22 Order at 6-7.)

court's May 4] order." (5/4/22 Order at 7.) In its response, the SEC stated that it "is prepared to file its third motion for final judgment within 45 days of the [c]ourt's May 4

[o]rder" and proposed a briefing schedule for its motion. (Resp at 1.) The SEC also informed the court that Defendants agreed to the proposed briefing schedule. (See id. at

Having reviewed the SEC's response to the court's May 4 show cause order, the

Having reviewed the SEC's response to the court's May 4 show cause order, the court:

- 1. DISCHARGES its May 4 order to show cause; and
- 2. ADOPTS the SEC's proposed briefing schedule for its third motion for partial final judgment as follows:

EVENT	DEADLINE
The SEC files its third motion for partial final judgment	June 1, 2022
Defendants file their response	June 15, 2022
The SEC files its reply	June 29, 2022

Dated this 12th day of May, 2022.

JAMÉS L. ROBART United States District Judge

R. Rl